

ADVANCE GUARD OF SHIRNERS ARRIVING FOR BIG CONVENTION

Low Railroad Rates Became Effective Thursday and the Trains Are Already Bringing Visitors to Atlanta

OFFICIAL WELCOMERS GO ON DUTY SATURDAY

Finishing Touches Are Being Put on Electric Signs, Decorations and Other Features of Great Gathering

Atlanta has begun already to fill with visitors. The low rates promulgated by the Southeastern Passenger association for the Shriners' meeting went into effect Thursday, and during the afternoon and night the throngs began to appear. More came Friday. By Saturday morning, it was expected that the throngs would be in the city, the neighboring states east of the Mississippi river and south of the Ohio river.

Low rates in all other sections of the United States and Canada went into effect earlier, and Shriners from those parts have been on their way for many hours.

At noon Saturday the official welcome of Yarnab temple forces will go on duty at the two main stations. From then until the last train of Tuesday morning will be in the city, the Shriners will be in the city, the neighboring states east of the Mississippi river and south of the Ohio river.

Each Sunday will be under the charge of a sub-chairman. The Shriners will be in the city, the neighboring states east of the Mississippi river and south of the Ohio river.

Atlanta's traffic scene of police shows on Friday morning in broad daylight of metropolitan Atlanta primarily by the Shriners. The Shriners are coming and the traffic will be tremendous. The caps and the Shriners are coming and the traffic will be tremendous.

Three Me electric signs on the Kimbrell street to be completed by the Shriners. The Shriners are coming and the traffic will be tremendous.

The Canadian flag to fly. The Shriners are coming and the traffic will be tremendous.

Thursday Potentate Adair was informed by Elin-Vatson Drug company that one of the trained nurses on their register had tendered her services free of charge to any Shriners. The Shriners are coming and the traffic will be tremendous.

OFFICIALS PLAN TO REINFORCE COMMANDER AT VERA CRUZ FOLLOWING RECEIPT OF CIPHER MESSAGE

ASSAULT BY MEXICANS AMONG POSSIBILITIES

Officials Also Desire Sufficient Force There to Move on Mexico City if It Becomes Necessary

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 8.—The Mexican situation has assumed a more threatening aspect today. Activities in the Vera Cruz department, which began last night on the receipt of long confidential advice from General Funston, were renewed this morning and were brought to the attention of President Wilson and the cabinet when the regular session began at 11 o'clock.

While this activity disclosed that every preparation was being made for emergency, the Secretary of War cabinet meeting that "no additional troops would be sent to Vera Cruz."

In connection with the military preparations for possible future action, it became known that the war department had been in long distance telephone connection with the governor of New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio in an effort to determine how those states would be mobilized and sent to the aid of the United States.

The department has been working in its efforts to make all preparations for the possible mobilization of the national guard for some time.

Among dispatches received was one which reported the firing of two shells at Tampico. Protection American lives and property, it was stated, was the prime motive in the determination of army and navy officials that the American forces in Mexico should be reinforced.

The question of placing a large force of Americans in Vera Cruz that would be strong enough to defend that port against any attack or to undertake possible campaign against Mexico City, was also being considered.

War department officials, it was stated, decided that reinforcements were needed to the American forces in Mexico. The Shriners are coming and the traffic will be tremendous.

Army officials today were anxious to make no move. The Shriners are coming and the traffic will be tremendous.

Mexico temple of New York, the original of the Vera Cruz temple, was quoted Potentate Adair recently to say that the Shriners are coming and the traffic will be tremendous.

SAY ROCKEFELLER, JR., COULD CROSS OFF THE STRIKE

Issues Statement That Son of "Oil King" Could Have Ended Trouble by Settlement

SAY SACRIFICE TOO GREAT NOW FOR TURNING BACK

INFLANAPOLIS, May 8.—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., who has been the loss of life in Colorado by favoring a settlement of the coal strike through a meeting of the operators and miners, according to a statement issued today by the International executive board of the United Mine Workers of America, in action here. The statement also declares "there can be no turning back or turning aside. The sacrifices already made are too great."

The statement reserves the strike, declares the loss of life, acts of violence and destruction of property; declares for the miners and settles the strike, asked for a conference time after time, and quit work only after they had been asked to do so repeatedly. The statement that 10 per cent of the miners were attempting to force 30 per cent is called absurd and unqualifiedly false.

A long list of persecutions culminated in the massacre of Lawrence on April 20," the statement continues. "The state of Colorado was covered with shame, while the whole nation looked on with awe."

"There can be no turning back or turning aside. The sacrifices already made are too great. The slaughter of innocents demands from us our fullest cooperation."

"We pledge to the support of the international organization and hereby solemnly declare our unyielding purpose to support the United Mine Workers of America in their fight for recognition and an honorable wage settlement."

"We deny the existence of any right of the Colorado miners to belong to the United Mine Workers of America. Inherent. Without the protection of the United Mine Workers of America, individual miners in dealing with powerful financial interests are at a disadvantage. No financial interest can be destroyed. No financial interest can be destroyed. No financial interest can be destroyed."

Shriners from Buffalo Call at the White House

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 8.—Two hundred members of the Shrine temple, Knights of the Mystic Shrine, from Buffalo, N. Y., arrived in the city today. The delegation was accompanied by a band, which played in the white house grounds. The Shriners are coming and the traffic will be tremendous.

Here are a few prominent bankers here in attendance at the convention of the Georgia Bankers' association in session at the Piedmont hotel. They are from left to right, front row, L. P. Hilkey, president of the Alabama Bankers' association, of Montgomery; L. P. Hilkey, president of the Georgia Bankers' association; T. H. Fitchett, of Baltimore. Top row, Colonel Robert J. Lowry, of Atlanta; F. T. Hardwick, of Dalton; and Frank S. Etheridge, of Jackson.

Leading Financiers of State to Be Entertained Lavishly While in City

With approximately 500 delegates in attendance, the largest number in the history of the organization, the twenty-third annual convention of the Georgia Bankers' association was called to order by President L. P. Hilkey, of Macon, Friday morning at 10 o'clock in the convention hall of the Piedmont hotel.

Leading financiers who are here declare that the record attendance is partly due to the passage of the new currency measure and especially because of the fact that Atlanta was chosen as the southeastern center for a federal reserve bank. "Practically of this city's wonderful showing made before the reserve board and her subsequent victory was heard on all sides. Bankers were unanimous in endorsing the choice and were equally satisfied with the other centers named. They declared that Atlanta was clearly entitled to the recognition given and President Hilkey, speaking for the association, freely admitted that the banks and bankers of Georgia could not have been better pleased."

Since the passage of the currency law, he said, "I have been more or less in touch with every member of our organization and all were in favor of Atlanta from the outset with but few exceptions. Now all are mutually behind the capital of the state. My city, Macon, was the first in the state to endorse Atlanta for a regional bank and we share with her the joys of the victory."

FEELING OF SECURITY. It was interesting to note among the hundreds of visitors the apparent feeling of security that has become manifest since the passage of the currency law. The heads of the different banks, when questioned in reference to what effect the new law would have, admitted that its benefits were already beginning to have a wonderful moral effect in the banking and financial world and all agreed that once the law becomes actively operative it will bring the greatest prosperity.

Among those who gave an expression in reference to the currency measure was F. T. Hardwick, of Dalton, who declared that Atlanta was the only logical point for the southeastern reserve bank. F. T. Hardwick, of Dalton, another prominent banker, looks for renewed prosperity as a result of the passage of the act and points with pride to the selection of Atlanta for one of the centers.

Charles W. Skinner, of Waynesboro, a banker of wide experience, and known throughout the state for his thorough methods and sterling business ability, endorsed Atlanta at the outset of the campaign for a regional bank and says he is as proud of the victory as any banker in this city. "I never doubted for a moment," he said, "that Atlanta would be chosen by the board as the southeastern center. It was here by right. I never once seriously considered any of the opponents as serious contenders."

BETTER TIMES COMING.

Mr. Skinner said that better times are already becoming manifest and predicts even more prosperous years with the actual operation of the law in force.

After the formal opening of the convention by the president, Governor Slaton delivered the address of welcome and was responded to by Captain F. W. Woodworth, of Savannah. Mr. Hilkey followed with the president's annual address. The remainder of the session was taken up with routine matters, the adoption of the report of the executive council, read by Charles B. Lewis, of Macon, and the secretary's report, presented by Haynes McKadden, of this city.

The treasurer's report by E. C. Smith, of Griffin, showed the organization to be in a thriving condition and increasing in membership and influence. The report of the general counsel, Orville A. Park, of Macon, was also heard.

Immediately after adjournment at 1 o'clock one member from each group was named to serve on the nominating committee. Their report will be submitted to the convention at the Saturday morning session and officers elected for the ensuing year.

BANQUET AT CLUB.

At 8 o'clock Friday night an elaborate banquet will be served the delegates at the Capital City club. The affair will be by subscription and checks may be had by applying to the secretary.

Following is the program for the business session Saturday:

Editor The Journal: It is my pleasant duty to advise you that the board of directors of the Atlanta Music Festival association passed a unanimous resolution at its meeting today, thanking you for the work done by you in aid of the work of opera. Such work was immeasurable and incalculable in dollars and cents, and absolutely invaluable to our association and the success of the opera season. It is of the character not duplicated or approached by any newspaper in any other city in the world. Hence, words can feebly express our appreciation.

Chemical analysis of an ordinary cup of coffee shows that it contains about 2 1/2 grains of the drug caffeine.

By actual test the U. S. Government demonstrated that 5 grains of caffeine (the amount in 2 cups of coffee) were sufficient to kill a rabbit.

Of course, human beings are stronger than rabbits, but there are few people who can drink coffee regularly without sooner or later feeling the effects of caffeine poisoning, commonly shown in headache, indigestion, biliousness, sleeplessness, heart agitation and other ills.

Thousands of people, tired of coffee troubles, have found relief by changing to

Why We Make Kryptok Bifocals and Recommend Them

First of all because of their convenience. They give Near and Far Vision in one solid glass, doing away with two pairs of glasses.

They can be more perfectly ground than any other bifocal known, no ugly seams or pieces to blister or come loose. We make them in Toric or Curved form, giving a larger field both for reading and distance.

Each pair is made to order, conforming to the face in every detail. Your best friend would never know you have on bifocals. They are absolutely invisible while on the face. They are a joy, not a discomfort. Ask some of our patients how they are pleased.

SHRINERS' HEADQUARTERS
PRESENTS BUSY SCENE

Committees Hard at Work Completing Details of the Great Meeting

An air of great business in hand and just ahead was prevalent Friday morning at the headquarters of the local shrine committees in the Poplar street end of the Empire Life building.

The headquarters opened early in the forenoon. E. T. Booth in charge and about a dozen assistants working under him. Young ladies were working rapidly at the stupendous task of distributing in envelopes the 25,000 souvenir handbooks and programs, the information handbooks, the souvenir agenda with tiny compasses set in them and the cards entitling Shriners to free geographic service.

At this place all the unofficial visiting notes of the shrine will register, their credentials and their open resumes to all times and on all days.

ON DUTY ALL THE TIME.
From now until the shrine meeting is over workers will be on duty in the headquarters at all hours of the day and night.

Tickets for the shrine trip to Savannah which will start in Savannah and spend Friday in the city by the steam train next Thursday evening and return Saturday morning will be on sale there to Shriners at the rate of $1.00.

The committee in charge of the Savannah trip is composed of W. H. Jones, district master, agent of the Central of Georgia railroad; J. C. Bann, assistant general passenger agent of the Southern railway; and E. T. Booth.

HEADQUARTERS AT ANSLEY.
The members of the imperial council will register at the Ansley hotel, where the council's headquarters will be opened Sunday by Benjamin W. Rowell, of Boston, the imperial recorder.

A couple of thousand incomes in private homes have been distributed already through the Yearbook committee, of which J. C. Greenfield is chairman. These are for the late comers who could not find accommodations elsewhere or preferred rooms in homes. About 2,000 rooms remain available for visitors who have made no advance arrangement. These will be distributed at headquarters in the Empire Life building.

ATLANTA CREDIT MEN
MEET FRIDAY EVENING

Judge Lumpkin to Deliver Address and Officers to Be Elected

The annual meeting of the Atlanta Credit Men's association will be held Friday night at 8 o'clock in the assembly hall of the new chamber of commerce building on North Pryor street. Officers for the ensuing year will be elected. Joseph H. Lumpkin, of the supreme court, will speak on "What I Don't Know About Credit," and Judge Lumpkin will address the association on "The Credit Man and Public Accounting."

After the speaking a Dutch dinner will be served.
The present officers of the association are: E. L. Adams, president; Charles L. Ryan, vice president; E. F. Boykin, second vice president; E. L. Rhodes, secretary and treasurer. The members of the executive committee are: Ralph Rosenbaum, Dilling H. Jones, C. A. Logan, S. Freytag, L. E. Floyd and J. W. Hagan.

PROGRESSIVES TO HOLD SESSION IN KANSAS CITY

(By Associated Press.)
KANSAS CITY, May 8.—Progressives from all sections of the state on Friday night are attending a meeting which is to be a meeting of the Progressive state committee and party conference in the afternoon and a public meeting at night. A. E. Ellis, chairman of the state committee, announced that the primary purpose of the gathering was to elect candidates to fill for state officers, congressmen and United States senators subject to the primaries next week.

Chief Beavers Plans Arrest of All Crooks Who Appear Here Shriners' Week

Any notorious crooks who may be attracted to Atlanta during Shriners' week by the picketers they may expect from the police will have better change their plans and stay away, says Chief Beavers.

For the chief has obtained the services of half a dozen or more of these men, known by the names of San Francisco and other large cities. Force in these cities, and will become, for the week regular members of the Atlanta force.

Chief Beavers hopes with these men, who are known by the names of the cities that have sent them, to be able to get rid of all unwelcome visitors as fast as they arrive in town.

CAR OF BEEF CATTLE IS SOLD FOR $3,609.44

Four Grady County Farmers Show Cattle Raising Pays in Georgia

When four farmers of Grady county recently sold a car of beef cattle in Savannah for $3,609.44 they set a record for not only Grady county but for Georgia as far as can be ascertained.

The farmers are W. B. Ridenbarger, W. B. Burroughs, Thomas Wright and W. D. Blaser. All residents of Grady county. The car was taken to Savannah by the car that went to Savannah and they are extremely well pleased with the return.

With other prominent farmers of their section, they believe the raising of cattle and hogs offers an opportunity to farmers in their county to get away from the "all cotton" farming.

BEAVERS OPEN TENTH ANNUAL SESSION HERE

President W. C. Munday Presides and Mayor Woodward Delivers Welcome Address

One hundred and fifty delegates, including prominent business men from every large southern city, are assembled in Atlanta for the tenth annual session of the Beavers.

The convention was called to order at 9:30 o'clock Friday morning at the convention hall, 17 1/2 East Hunter street, by President W. C. Munday, of New York. Mayor Woodward welcomed the delegates in a speech explaining clearly the great good that secret orders do.

John N. Piazza, of Vicksburg, Miss., supreme president, responded. The executive session of the supreme council followed Friday afternoon the delegates will attend the ball game Friday night.

Among the prominent delegates in attendance are H. W. English, of Birmingham; W. H. Pringle, of Birmingham; and E. W. Griffith, of Nashville.

VERA-CRUZ VICTIMS ARE DUE TO ARRIVE SUNDAY

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, May 8.—The armored cruiser Albatross, bearing the bodies of the seventeen sailors and marines killed during the occupation of Vera Cruz, is due to arrive in New York harbor about 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Memorial services, at which President Wilson will preside, will be held at the White House on Sunday morning. Arrangements for the services had not finally been completed early today, but it was announced that they would be brief and simple. Captain William C. Cassatt, of Annapolis, will deliver the invocation. The chaplain will be Rabbi Wise of New York, who will read the benediction with the prayer pronounced by the Rev. Father John Childwick, who was chaplain of the battleship Maine when it was blown up in Havana harbor.

The voyage also calls for music by the Marine band and either a rifle or artillery salute.

HIGHER RATE IS ASKED FOR PULLING 2 MILEAGE

A. B. & A.'s Petition Will Be Heard by Railroad Commission on May 24

The Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad has filed a petition with the state railroad commission in which it asks that it be allowed to pull mileage on a basis higher than the 2-cent a mile rate which has been in effect on all roads issuing and pulling this form of mileage.

The Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic is in class of the commission's authorized passenger tariffs, and all roads in this class are allowed 2 cents a mile on straight passenger fares. The rate is asking that it be allowed to pull mileage on a basis of its standard tariff less 20 per cent, which means that the rate would be in excess of 2 1/2 cents a mile.

Prior to the commission's order requiring mileage to be pulled on trains the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic, in common with the other roads, pulled mileage 2 cents on its face value of 2 cents a mile.

After the courts had sustained the commission's order the roads withdrew interchangeable mileage, but later on an agreement with the traveling men's associations and with the approval of the commission, the interchangeable mileage was restored and stop-over mileage was added.

Under this agreement it was understood that the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic road would be restored 2 cents and other forms of mileage to the rate which was in effect before the original order of the commission.

Some days ago complaint reached the commission that the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic road was pulling mileage on a basis of 2 1/2 cents a mile, which was the rate in effect before the original order of the commission.

The road complied with this order, but filed its application for authority to increase the rate, hearing on the petition will be held before the commission May 24.

CITY OFFICIALS SEND FLOWERS FOR FUNERAL

Tribute Is Paid to John E. McClelland, Who Was Formerly an Alderman

City Clerk Walter Taylor will send a handsome floral tribute to the home of John E. McClelland, who died Thursday, on behalf of the members of the city government.

Mr. McClelland was formerly an alderman of the city and took a very active part in the conduct of the city's affairs, being one of the conspicuous members of the general council. He resigned his seat as alderman in the summer of 1912, at a time when his health had broken down and he was unable to continue his arduous labors.

Mr. McClelland was a close friend and local supporter of Mayor Woodward, and the mayor and other members of the city government will attend the funeral services.

FRANCE IS NOT HOSTILE TO U. S. MEXICAN POLICY

(By Associated Press.)
PARIS, May 8.—(Associated Press.)—The United States, said French opinion, concerning the Mexican situation is hostile to the United States. The French press, the most authoritative of which appears in the Figaro today from the pen of Gabriel Hanotaux, president of the French Chamber of Deputies, said that the French government is not hostile to the development of political, economic, literary and art relations between the United States and Mexico. The only manifestation in certain papers, says M. Hanotaux, "originates with certain interests, but generally the vast difficulty with which the United States is faced is perfectly understood here. France has large material interests in Mexico and desires an end of the anarchy and the establishment of peace and security, which is exactly what the United States is trying to bring about. It is thought understood that a regime in Mexico could last without the approval, and, to a certain extent, the help of the United States."

HEARING IN FRANK CASE MAY WAIT SEVERAL DAYS

Motion to Set Aside Verdict May Not Be Taken Up Saturday

The hearing of the motion to set aside the verdict in the Frank case, which was set for Saturday morning at 10 o'clock before Judge Ben H. Hill, will probably be postponed until the middle of next week.

Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey indicated Friday that he cannot possibly be prepared with the facts of the case by Saturday morning. The case will be granted more time, but as Judge Hill is known to be anxious to complete the case, it is likely the postponement will be only for a few days.

One of the reasons for delay in the case is that it is now known that an abate of fact as well as a question of law will be involved.

In the motion to set aside the verdict on the ground that Frank was not in the court room at the time it was rendered, the state will be asked to file the bill of exceptions and the brief of evidence in the extraordinary motion for a new trial on the ground of new evidence, which will probably not be submitted to Judge Hill for his signature for several days. The attorneys for the defense have twenty days in which to file the papers with the supreme court.

The attorneys for the defense have twenty days in which to file the papers with the supreme court.

If the motion to set aside the verdict, which involves constitutional grounds, is decided adversely, the case will be sent to the supreme court of the United States. The case cannot reach the supreme court until the United States until the October term, attorneys say, and this means it may not be finally decided until next year.

COUNTY SCHOOLS CLOSE FOR SHRINERS' PARADE

County Board of Education Declares Next Tuesday, May 12, Holiday

The schools of Fulton county have joined with the schools of the city of Atlanta in declaring next Tuesday, May 12, a holiday in order that the children may witness the great Shrine parade. The public schools of the city, as stated in The Journal Thursday, will close both on Tuesday and Wednesday, giving the city children an opportunity to witness all the spectacular events of the Shrine convention.

The completed enrollment of the schools of Fulton county and the schools of Atlanta is 26,800, or more, and the indications are that a large majority of these children will see the parade next Tuesday morning.

Friends Are Thanked

Mrs. T. H. Fincher, Dr. E. F. Fincher and Dr. T. H. Fincher wish to thank their many friends for kindness and expressions of sympathy during the illness and following the death of the late Judge Thomas H. Fincher.

Shriners, Attention

We extend to you a most cordial invitation to call on us for any information or help within our reach. You will find us on the job. We are going to do our best to help entertain you, business or no business. Ask any local Shriner who we are.

MEN AND RELIGION BULLETIN NO. 114

Still Seeking Sanity

"I am come that they might have life and that they might have it more abundantly."

---John 10:10

In the May McClure's, Connie Mack, manager for years, and today, of the Athletics, baseball champions of the world, says:

"Moderate drinking gets a baseball player in the end just as sure as boozing—

"I wouldn't bother with a youngster who drinks. That's my fixed policy—

"I have proved up to my own satisfaction this business of clean living and quick thinking. It's the stuff champions are made of."

Of forbidding beer and wine on board our vessels, Current Opinion says:

"Secretary Daniels issued the order. President Wilson approved it. Rear Admiral Braisted, Surgeon-General of the Navy, recommended it. Colonel L. M. Maus, Chief Surgeon of the United States Army, Eastern Division, seems to have instigated it.

"Colonel Maus says:

"Lord Kitchener allowed his men no spirits in the Soudan campaign; Lord Roberts was equally opposed to its use in South Africa, and Sir Frederick Treves, who served at Ladysmith, said that the drinking men fell out and dropped as regularly as if they were labeled with the big letter D on their backs."

"One of Lord Wolsley's experiments, in which his troops were divided into three marching squads. The first had a daily ration of whiskey, and at the start it marched gaily ahead. The second had a ration of beer, and it soon overtook and passed the whiskey squad. The third squad marched on water. It maintained an even, steady gait, passed both the other squads and reached its destination long before the others."

"In the maneuvers of the Connecticut Militia last summer Colonel Maus notes similar results.

"The majority of the young men who fell out of line in the hot weather were declared inefficient by the medical officers because of the drinking of beer."

"Moderate drinking gets a player."

"Men who fell out of line."

RECALL THEM IN YOUR LIFE! Possibly your brother—certainly some relative and more than one friend known personally to you—once good fellows all, but now dead or out of the game, fallen out of God's battle line because of drink. And back of each of these are scarred hearts and the tears of mothers and wives.

Well may drinkers sing: "Wine, woman and song."

For without the drug of alcohol there could be neither laughter nor song while pitiless wrong is being wrought upon womankind.

And yet, when a great body of men, Masons all, whose very creed is help for the helpless and the defense of women, the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man—when such as these come to the capital of Georgia, whose laws forbid the sale of liquor, law breakers are able to go to our City Council and get a special license to ply their traffic into the small hours of morning.

Atlanta will remember.

AND HER CHURCHES SEND WORD TO THE WORLD THAT THIS ACTION, THIS AFFRONT TO MASONRY, DOES NOT SPEAK THE WILL OF OUR CITY, BUT ONLY OF THE FEW WHOSE DAY IS RAPIDLY WAXING. A MINORITY OF JERUSALEM SHRIEKED AGAINST THE CHRIST: "HE HATH A DEVIL AND IS CRAZY" WHEN HE SAID:

"I AM COME THAT THEY MIGHT HAVE LIFE, AND THAT THEY MIGHT HAVE IT MORE ABUNDANTLY."

But He has conquered.

Sanity? You know—

The Cross, sacrifice of self for the salvation and happiness of others, is the summit of wisdom.

Christ calls to the broader, braver, better life of joy for all, as opposed to the narrow, self-centered existence that seeks sensual pleasure for the few, regardless of the agony and suffering resulting.

And you—you will come with your Lord.

HOTEL MEN ARE READ FOR SHRINERS' COMING

All of Them Wear Hunted Look, but They Are Not Stampeded

Already there is a hunted look in the eyes of every hotel manager in Atlanta, ahead of them, floats the mirage of some 2,000 Shrine guests who will avalanche upon them between now and Monday, divided in lots of hundreds between every hotel in the city. But they are ready. Despite the fact that every room in every hotel in the city will be occupied and then some, the hotel managers announced Friday that arrangements had been made so that their guests would not be inconvenienced in the least. Systems of baggage checking have been arranged by several of the hotels so that all the Shriners' baggage will be taken care of for them without their waiting and all their baggage will be taken to the call at the desk and get the key to their rooms. At the Ansley, announces Manager Letton, there will be 300 Shriners, first class and two camps, at the Piedmont, reservations have been made for about 600, the Georgian Terrace, has no complete parlors will probably house 250 Shriners and their wives and families, the Winscott and Aragon between them will care for about 600, the Kimball house is prepared for 600, the Mablett will have several hundred; numbers of the smaller hotels will be crowded to the edge. But we will be ready, announce the hotel managers. "We know what we are up against, but we will be able to take care of them. There will be nothing lacking to make everybody feel at home. A few Shriners stayed into town Friday, the main parade started in great gait Saturday and Sunday. At the Kimball house, E. L. West, "scout" for the California Shrine, had all arrangements complete for 400 Shriners from his state who arrive Sunday.

NOTE FROM FUNSTON CAUSES GREAT STIR IN WAR DEPARTMENT

At Maxatlan there were no reports of additional rebel aggression today, but three main constitutionalist armies were preparing for the next blow in the campaign which Carranza moved to against the government from Chihuahua to Tlaxcala. Rumors of the fighting at Maxatlan crystallized into a report that the town had fallen into the rebels' hands. Constitutionalists at Juarez, however, did not credit it. The rebel campaign against Salinas Cruz, Acapulco and other west coast cities was to be hurried, according to reports from constitutionalist camps in the west today. Officials today sought additional information of the reported killing of two Englishmen and an American subject in Guadalajara. The fate of Attilio Consoli Sillman, reported to have been arrested near San Luis Potosi, also caused uneasiness. Urgent representations were made by the state department today through the Brazilian embassy to the Huerta government seeking the release of Vice Consul John R. Sillman, who is reported held by the Mexican federalists at Salinas. Consul Sillman was reported taken by the Huerta forces while on a trip to San Luis Potosi and all efforts of the state department to locate him so far have been futile. The Sillman incident added to the general feeling of apprehension about the state department. Dr. Edward Ryan, who was condemned to death at Zacatecas and later released, is reported to have arrived today without mishap at Puerto Mexico together with 600 other refugees from the capital. They will go direct to New Orleans on board the Esperanza.

American Administration Commended in Vera Cruz

VERA CRUZ, May 7.—The local newspapers publish prominently commendations of the American administration in Vera Cruz. There is great commotion in the city, and this is a subject of much gratification to the natives. The work of reorganizing is going steadily forward but with the arrival of more staff officers from Texas City, General Funston will be equipped to do more substantial work. Quiet in Mexico City is restoring confidence and many Mexican having interests in the capital are making a short trip there to clean up their affairs. So far there is no interruption to train service. The military situation is unchanged, and the troops are making themselves comfortable in the quarters they expect to occupy for some time.

Deaths and Funerals

MR. PATRICK'S FUNERAL.
The body of Mr. James P. Patrick, who died Thursday afternoon, was taken to Mansfield, Ga., for funeral and interment.

JOE FLEMING.
Joe Fleming, the four-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Fleming, died Thursday at the family residence, 20 Great street. The funeral was held at 11 o'clock Friday morning from Harry G. Poole's chapel and interment was in Casey's cemetery.

MR. J. F. ROWZIE.
The body of Mrs. J. F. Rowzie was taken Friday morning to Woodville, Ga., for funeral and interment.

PREDICT GOOD WEATHER HERE FOR SATURDAY

Fine clear weather with continued coolness the weather man's forecast for Saturday. Friday morning the thermometer dropped 12 degrees, registering at 54 instead of at 66 as on Thursday morning. The change was noticeable in comparison with the warm weather of recent days. Forecaster von Hornum says the cool spell will continue until about Sunday, but that in all probability the weather will begin to get warm by Monday.

The $55 Bookkeeping Course, $55 Shorthand Course, and $25 Cost Accounting Course, All Combined for Only $67.50

One quarter of a century! A long time for two to conduct a business together without ever having had a single dispute. In celebration of this unusual and interesting event, the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Southern Shorthand and Business University, of this city, under the present management, Messrs. A. C. Briscoe and L. W. Arnold have this day placed on sale one hundred scholarships, worth $125 each at the astonishingly low price of $67.50, just one-half the regular rate. These scholarships include the $25 Bookkeeping course, the $55 Shorthand course, and the $25 Cost Accounting course, all combined for only $67.50. While these combined course scholarships are being sold at this overwhelming reduction named, either the $55 Bookkeeping course or the $55 Shorthand course may be obtained at $10. This is the greatest educational bargain ever offered. It's a real bargain because it is made by the "Southern," the South's most popular and progressive Business College.

Those desiring to avail themselves of this extraordinary offer should call or write for scholarship without delay, as the May and June enrollment will more than absorb the 100 special scholarships placed on sale. Scholarships purchased now may be used at any future time. On June 12 the Southern will give an elaborate reception in honor of its 25th anniversary, and it is the purpose of the managers to have present the one hundred new pupils who secure these special scholarships, together with its hosts of other pupils and friends. Twenty-five years ago Messrs. Briscoe and Arnold organized the "Southern" with an enrollment of twelve pupils and three typewriting machines. Their good systems, approved methods, and honest dealings, built up the school year by year until its annual enrollment now reaches 600 pupils, and its typewriting equipment numbers seventy-five machines. Prospective pupils are requested to ask Atlanta business men about the Southern. It's an easy matter to select the best school if the proper method of investigation is made. Don't fail to act now, once, if one of these low-priced scholarships is desired. They will last only a short time. Call, phone or write A. C. Briscoe, President, or L. W. Arnold, Vice President, 10 West Mitchell street, Atlanta, Georgia. Prof. Thomas L. Bryan, lecturer and representative.—(Adv.)

RECEIPTS ON TAG DAY ARE CUT DOWN BY RAIN

Only $3,300 Collected, Which is About $2,000 Less Than 1913 Record

Thursday was the first tag day in Atlanta's history that it rained. Consequently, receipts were somewhat off, approximately $2,000 being given, falling short nearly $2,000 of last year's record. Only the courage and persistence of the workers saved the day from total failure, but despite the drenching shower of the morning, women and girls are in braving the wet and selling the tags. Mrs. W. S. Elkin, manager of the campaign for the benefit of the Sheltering Arms, stated Friday morning that while Sunday was not as successful as it has been in former years, she was content under the circumstances. "Of course, we can't add it over again," she said, "but I don't know what we're going to do. The Sheltering Arms opened another nursery this year and $2,000 was needed. I suppose we can raise the money in some other way."

will need hundreds, literally," he says. "We haven't heard enough yet." The county board of education has declared a holiday for county schools Tuesday, the day of the big parade. Inasmuch as the first will start at 1:30 o'clock in the morning, everybody will have to get to town early to see it. The cars will stop running before that time.

O, YOU ORIENTALS.
Dr. Edward W. Bak, a former Atlantan, now a resident of Chicago, arrived Thursday evening as the advance representative of Medinah temple, Chicago—38th place of the famous Oriental band which plays nothing but Oriental music on Oriental instruments. He is arranging for Medinah's arrival Monday. The temple will live aboard its special train, parked near the Terminal station.

Word was received by the local committee Friday that John C. Valley will be with the delegation from El Jebel temple, Denver. Noble Valley was general chairman of the Knights Templar entertainment in Denver last year, occupying the corresponding position to that which Potentate Adair fills with regard to the Shriners meeting here. He is grand warden of the grand encampment K. T. of the United States. Another distinguished visitor will be Philip D. Gordon, expected with the temple of Montreal, Can. Noble Gordon is one of that temple's official representatives. He is grand prior of the Knights Templar of Canada. He and Mrs. Gordon will stop at the Piedmont hotel.

Everything was ready at 61 North Pryor street for the opening of patrol headquarters. Fifteen thousand dollars worth of novelties will be distributed to the visiting patrols. The distribution being by card only. Five Foreign Flags to Fly Over Commerce Chamber. Five large flags measuring twelve by eight feet and representing the countries of England, Germany, Argentina, Brazil and Chile were Wednesday morning ordered by wire by Secretary Walter G. Cooper, of the Atlanta chamber of commerce and will be used in the decorating of the new home of the organization at Auburn avenue and South Pryor street. The purchase of these flags was decided upon after a conference of President Mall E. Wilkinson with Victor H. Knighsaber, chairman of the finance committee and Secretary Cooper. They represent the European countries friendly toward the United States in their difference with Mexico and the three Latin-American republics who are mediators in the dispute with Provisional Governor Huerta.

The United States flags are already flying from the windows of the building and 150,000 people will soon be augmented through the gay contrast of the brilliant colors of the foreign powers. The decorations planned by the chamber, given promise of being among the most elaborate erected in the city in honor of the army of Shriners who are marching on Atlanta from all parts of the North American continent.

Odd Lots of Corsets Priced for Clearaway

As big as this store is there is no room in it for odd lots and broken lines. We will not keep them. To insure immediate disposal, we take the immediate and direct method of pricing things. This Corset Clearaway is an example. Corsets of worth that have sold down to odd lots, must be disposed of; if your size is among them you are in for a fine saving.

79c For $1.50 Corsets Almost half price for splendid coutil corsets of this moment's styles; low bust, full hips, long skirts, six hose supporters, not all sizes.

$1.49 For $7.50 to $10 Corsets A little lot of twenty-five superb corsets of coutils and brocades, medium and high busts, long skirts; all sizes from 18 to 25, except 22 and 24.

$3.98 For $12.50 to $18 Corsets There are sixteen of these—hurry. Brocades, coutils, medium low bust, long over hips; in sizes 19, 21, 22, 23 and 24. A rare and fine opportunity.

In the Junior Department (Third Floor) Prizes in Junior Suits $14.75 Were $20, $22.50 & $25 Now

Forget for the moment the price element, note the suits. Could styles be smarter, trimmings daintier, colors more springlike? Indeed they are suits that young women will want for the reason that they are so good-looking and out of the ordinary.

And yet they are marked at $14.75! It is the clearaway of Junior Suits—which explains why style and tailoring are not considered in the pricing. Checks, serges and poplins and novelty weaves.

Junior $17.50 to $25 $6.95 Evening Dresses are Dainty chiffons in light blue, mais and pink, made attractive with laces, ribbons and little French flowers. For the young folk who will dance, who will enter into the festivities of next week, this is a very opportune sale. An early choice will be best.

You can hardly see the town for the decorations.

We intend to give these Shriners a regular Mardi Gras of a time.

It takes two to make a bargain—and a lawyer to get the best of it.

The weather man seems to be willing to do all he can to make good weather for the Shriners.

Mediation or no mediation, the naval program for more battleships was carried out by the house.

The Army's Health Campaign.

One of the great tasks of the American forces at Vera Cruz is the prevention of disease. There has been thus far no serious illness in the army, but the insanitary condition of the town is warning enough of what may come unless measures for prompt improvement are taken. General Funston has accordingly instituted a campaign that will not only protect our own troops but benefit the Mexicans themselves for years to come.

Particular attention has been directed to the city's water supply, and that flowing from polluted or unwholesome sources has been discontinued. As a precaution against typhoid, unsparring war has been declared upon flies; plans are under way for a better system of garbage disposal and the importance of cleanliness is urged upon the people.

Very Cruz is learning lessons and receiving ideas that it has scarcely dreamed of in all its hundreds of years. It is learning its a-b-c's of public health. The work of the army is primarily a matter of self preservation, but its good effects will extend to the entire community and its suggestions will, perhaps, kindle a new sense of responsibility among the natives.

The mission of the United States in Cuba was one of health no less than of free and orderly government. Its achievement at Panama was one of sanitation no less than of engineering science. It has gone into the tropics and reclaimed waste places of disease, making them habitable and secure. The canal zone is once fatal to northern peoples; it was closed to industry and commerce, and the canal itself could never have been built, had not our Government first cleansed the sources of contagion.

No exploit of the army and the navy has been more brilliant and certainly none has been more useful than their conquest of disease. The work now being done at Vera Cruz is a tribute to American civilization.

The Shriners is the guy who'll put the go in into.

And now come the oil men, who propose to calm the troubled waters of Mexico.

It looks as if Colonel Roosevelt will have no opportunity to head that regiment.

A man may be as old as he feels, but a woman is generally older than she thinks she looks.

The Complete Letter Writer would not be complete without some of the cards that will be sent the newspapers during the Georgia political campaign.

Assuring Signs.

Noting the fact that there is a more cheerful feeling in business and financial circles, the New York Herald remarks that this is due in part to the season. "When the sunshine grows warmer and the flowers begin to bloom and the birds to sing and the husbandmen get busy in millions of fields, the pulse naturally beats faster and the spirits rise."

True enough. One touch of nature makes the whole world smile. But there are, as the Herald points out, more definable causes, beneath the renewal of business confidence. Bank clearings have moved steadily upward; in Atlanta their increase for April over the corresponding month of 1913 was remarkable. Stocks have risen notably in the Wall Street markets. Earnings have improved in many railroads, and the probability of an early and favorable decision on the rate appeal which has been before the Interstate Commerce Commission for nearly a year has a wholesome effect. President Wilson's announcement of the membership of the federal reserve board shows that the control of the country's banking interests will be in the hands of competent and trustworthy men; and that has been especially reassuring to business and finance. The fact is, the basic conditions of national prosperity were never sounder than they are today.

When a smoker fumes he seldom frets.

A good dentist ignores no pains to make his work satisfactory.

Lives of great men oft remind us that obscurity has its advantages.

Men are like needles; when they are broke won't have no use for them.

It seems to be Villa's intention to simplify mediation by eliminating Huerta in the meanwhile.

Make Tuesday a Half-Holiday.

Atlanta is going to shut up shop next Tuesday morning and give itself, heart-whole and fancy-free, to the great Shrine parade. Who could settle down to humdrum business while sixty bands are blaring and the most gorgeous pageant ever seen in America is rolling by? The sidewalks will be crammed with onlookers, thousands of visitors and thousands of Atlantians. The city will be all eyes and ears; and from eight in the morning, when the parade begins until half past one when it is over, there will be no thought or opportunity for trade.

Hence the merchants of the downtown district have very properly started a movement to make next Tuesday forenoon a business half holiday. They are doing this as a compliment to the visiting Shriners, as an act of generosity to their employees and also as a matter of civic pride and common sense. A majority of the merchants have readily fallen in with the plan. Let it be unanimously adopted.

Life is nearly all desire and regret.

A man may be regular in his habits, even if they are bad.

A man should believe everything he says, even if it is only for the purpose of setting a good example for others.

Two New Battleships.

The logic of events that urged Congress to speedily and favorable action on the army volunteer bill has proved equally effective for the needs of the navy. The House has provided for two new battleships. This course was recommended months ago by the committee on naval affairs, but not until the Mexican crisis developed was its adoption assured. The timely work of the fleet at Vera Cruz has demonstrated the value of our naval forces and the importance of maintaining their strength and efficiency. One blow well struck has spurred us many; and though it is the wish and hope of all good citizens that we have no war with Mexico or any other nation, prudence impels us to be prepared.

Battleships, it has been well said, are cheaper than battles. This does not mean that the United States should plunge into extravagant measures and burden itself with great armaments like those that now crush the taxpayers of Europe. It does not mean that we should grow belligerent or renounce our ideals of peace. Yet, as Washington himself declared, "There is a rank due the United States among nations which will be withheld by a reputation of weakness. If we desire to avoid insult, we must be able to repel it." The development of the navy within reasonable limits is essential to the country's well-being; it is a matter of true economy.

We have twenty-one thousand miles of seacoast to protect. We have more harbors with large cities and a larger number of strategic points to safeguard than any other nation; we have Porto Rico, the Philippines, Hawaii and Panama. As the dominant power of this hemisphere, we have the obligation to uphold and certain responsibilities to bear; and the navy is our chief reliance.

For the sake of the nation's peace as well as its rights and welfare, Congress can well afford to deal liberally, though never extravagantly and never in a spirit of jingoism, with the naval program; and the plan of two battleships a year, for the immediate future at least, seems reasonable.

A woman gives her heart to but one; a man is more liberal.

What matter if a girl's complexion is poor when her father is rich.

Just a little philosophy may enable one to take things as they come, but to part with them as they go—that is different.

Great Britain's Taxes.

Americans who are disposed to complain of the cost of their government should note the vast sums and towering rates in the new budget which the British parliament is asked to approve. The one item of income tax is broadly illustrative. The British income tax begins at incomes above eight hundred dollars and upon the largest incomes amounts to approximately thirty per cent. In the case of incomes of less than twenty-five hundred dollars, there is an allowance of fifty dollars for each child under sixteen years of age.

The federal income tax in the United States applies only to incomes above four thousand dollars for married men and three thousand dollars for unmarried men, and on incomes above five hundred thousand dollars the tax is seven per cent, as compared with thirteen per cent in England.

Great Britain's expenditures for the navy and army are far greater than ours; and besides these and the cost of ordinary governmental machinery, enormous appropriations are made for old age pensions and insurance against unemployment. The marvel is that Mr. Lloyd-George, chancellor of the exchequer, has been able to devise tax methods sufficient to secure the money. As a master of public finance, he has had few if any equals in his nation's history.

The more a man worries the easier it is for him to lose out.

It is sometimes easier for a poor man to be good than contented.

A poor man may get more real pleasure out of an air castle than a rich man does out of the other kind.

WHAT AMERICA MEANS

By Dr. Frank Crane

The spectacle of the navy of the United States spending to Mexican waters, and of the army of the United States occupying Vera Cruz, is more magnificent than the greatest nation on earth are not going to see.

We are so close to these events to see their grandeur, even as one must be at some distance from Mont Blanc to appreciate its majesty.

That which makes wonderful the advance upon Mexico is the fact that these trained soldiers and sailors of the greatest nation on earth are not going down to their feeble neighbor to fight the people there, to pillage, or to oppress them.

Everybody knows that we covet not a foot of Mexican soil, wouldn't have it as a gift, and that in case of war we should establish the country in its name of war, even as we did with Cuba, and as we shall one day do with the Philippines.

The wars of the Old World have been wars of subjugation. Caesar used his legions to seize the conquered provinces into one great empire. The armies of Charlemagne and Napoleon, of England, and of the United States have been wars of the same proud and selfish dream of dominancy.

The battle power of the United States is the friend of the people of any nation it approaches. It has no aim but their advance in civilization and common prosperity; no method but their own autonomy.

This attitude of our country is the most amazing thing in Christendom; the proudest flower of the twentieth century.

Europe does not grasp it. The eyes of the French, the German, and the English, blinded by the long darkness of millennium, actuated by the inheritance of feudal hates, cannot see the significance of what we do. Their criticisms of our policy are petty and unavailing.

Our invasion of Mexico is an imposing gesture of democracy. It means the rescue of a people from their present state of barbarism.

Behind "the far-flung battle line" of our boys in blue there advance other armies, the real armies of the United States—armies of science, of industry, erecting not forts but schoolhouses, not plundering but teaching; and the army of sanitary experts and engineers, erecting hospitals and bridges.

At the present rate of increase it will be but a few generations until the United States will outstrip Europe both in population and in the material of the nation's wealth. And the least of the nations shall not fear. For to us the days of conquest are numbered.

There is no time like the present for the American youth to glow with reasonable patriotism, and to learn the true meaning of John Milton, applying them to this country:

"Metinks I see in my mind a noble and puissant spirit—my own! In my time yet he lives, after sleep, and shaking his invincible locks; methinks I see her as an eagle moving her majestic wings, and kindling her immortal fire, the full midday beam; purging and unscaling her long-absent light at the fountain itself of heavenly radiance; while the whole shroud of timorous and flocking birds, with those also that love the twilight, flutter about, amazed at what she means."

Tales of Villa

A Mexican who had a widowed mother and a pretty young sister left in his charge, rode off from the ranch hurriedly one day in pursuit of the girl and her lover. The latter was young and handsome. Coming up with the pair, he first forced a wedding, then, having compelled the bridegroom to dig a grave, he shot him into it.

This happened years ago, but the Mexican was Father Time's offer of death. He was killed by a personal paper by N. C. Adossides in the American Review of Reviews, was the besting of Villa's life as a bandit.

At the present time, the rough qualities and the conscience hard hardened by brigandage, Mr. Adossides declares, Villa has a romantic side of his nature—that he can be kind and generous.

It is related that once in his bandit days he rode to the Gunther ranch, near Santa Rosa, where the hero, the latter, and his wife, and his children, were the time being alone. He instructed the servant to announce him. Mrs. Gunther had him admitted to the court, and when she first saw him, she said: "Stripes to be hoisted."

Villa's proposal was that he should be allowed to replace his woman's wounds by horses from the Gunther stables. The lady demurred decidedly.

"Very well," said Villa, "but would you not allow me to smoke a cigarette and look into your beautiful eyes?"

The lady pointed to the American flag, and while the bandit's sentimental gaze was so distracted she covered him with her pistol.

"But why?" he queried, "you are my countrywoman!"

"An American citizen," was the calm reply. Overcome with admiration for the woman's sleek, the daring rover gallantly removed his sword, for he would never under any circumstances surrender that he would never under any circumstances surrender the Gunther property. And he kept his promise.

The bandit general has at times been generous and tenacity, according to Mr. Adossides, and he does not hesitate to pay tribute to his own dash. "I have written eight encounters in a red ink, and he said the Review writer in 1912, "and killed thirty-seven of my enemies. I was wounded nine times, but never seriously." New York World.

An Eccentric Novelist

Genius, we are told, has a right to eccentricity, but few men and women whose cleverness has made their names in literature have been so completely and curiously whimsical to such an extent as the famous novelist, who, judging from the "Memoirs" of the novelist, left by Ellipse.

"Ouida" lived to assume the airs and graces of a great lady, the establishment of a great villa in the outside Florence, and loved to drive in a great carriage, a little victoria lined with oyster-gray satin, drawn by a pair of white horses, with bells and a driver and a feather stuck in their harness. Later on she drove a pair of white ponies, and the carriage was lined with white satin.

Matching in colors was one of the novelist's greatest fads. Her shoes were satin to match her gown, and she wore the same color for her hat and her gloves. She usually made her mother dress in black by way of contrast, and liked to receive guests dressed in black. She was very fond of the color, and her feet stretched out to show their beautiful proportions.

There appears to have been no limit to "Ouida's" extravagance in regard to dress. She not only had her gowns made by Worth, the great Paris dressmaker, but she had them made by the same designer. Her hat that she always wore, it is said by those who knew her, was depicting at the time—white muslin if a peasant girl, white satin for a great lady.

She appears to have treated women, except her few intimate friends, with much courtesy, and could be very rude on occasions. She was very kind on account of her delicate health, and when she did her hosts found her very difficult to deal with. She thought nothing of sulking the whole day and not meeting some one whom she did not desire to meet, while, if she felt bored, she would insist on going upstairs to her dressing room before the guests had even been seated. She would lie on a sofa, ring for the servant, and ask if her carriage had come, and if it had not she would insist on the sofa in the arrival of the carriage.

VICTOR BLUE READY

By HERBERT COHEN.

Do you remember what the governor of North Carolina said to the governor of South Carolina? Well, the application of that immortal principle made Victor Blue.

Just now he is Rear Admiral Blue, in command of the navy department of the navy department. He is a bureau to the navy a good deal what a peculiarly broad-gauged train despatcher, with collateral authority over general matters, and in the navy department. It practically runs the department. During the war, with Mexico it will be Blue's duty to see that the ships are properly manned, and that the navy department is properly run. He will give the commanders their sailing orders. The chief of this bureau is the eyes and legs and right hand of the general civil service of the navy. When he was Lieutenant Blue, Hampton's ship was lying outside Santiago harbor, waiting for General's ship to come out. It didn't come. No one was even positive that it was in.

"Not a man!" said Blue, and he was right. He went ashore alone, depending on the guidance and escort of the Cuban patriots who were camped in the long grass therabouts. The patriots had been badly skinned up that day in a sharp skirmish with the Spaniards. The Cuban chief was one of the groveling type, and was afraid of Blue and his men. Wounded patriots were lying all over the camp ground. Blue asked for guides and an escort.

"Not a man!" said this savage general. "Not a damned man!"

He meant it. That was obvious. So Blue didn't argue the case with him. But he did mean it. He had two bottles of the best whiskey ever soft-ened the heart of a man.

"My general," said Blue, softly, "will you join me in a toast to Cuba libre?"

"Would he?" he did. Blue handed the bottle and filled it up to the brim. He then took a drink down the side. The general began to ease on him with misely and affectionate eyes.

"I don't mind," said Blue, "before I go, will you not join me in a toast to the allies—the United States and France?"

The general did, in another tin cupful of whiskey that was charged with conversation and love. Pretty soon the general was drunk and kissed that young gentleman far upon the forehead.

"A man you asked me for," wept the general, and I told you. Alas, she! Take a hundred, my hero!"

Blue took eight men, and wriggled through the tall grass to the presidio. He then went directly to Santiago harbor. Sparkling in the darkness below him he saw the lights of General's ship. He reported to the general that he was drunk and kissed that young gentleman far upon the forehead.

U. S. MARINE CORPS

By Frederic J. Haskin

"The marines have landed and have the situation well in hand." This has been the burden of countless press dispatches from the quarters of the world.

Repetition of this message from scenes of anarchy and disaster has brought the average citizen to regard the United States marine as a mighty efficient force. In fact, he has formed the habit upon reading the first paragraph of a dispatch of general interest, to add the last part as a matter of course.

Wherever this country has had need of faithful service and resolute hearts, there the marines have been on hand. Not only in the van at this second occupation of Vera Cruz, but the United States marines have been foremost for more than a hundred years. They have been the backbone of the nation's interests. They are the skirmish line of Uncle Sam's authority, the first on the spot, the first to land, and the first to engage in active fighting.

Further than the fact that they generally carry on their tasks beyond all grounds for argument, and that little definite in the popular idea of the marines. The nature of their service, their organization and administration, and the character of general interest. To many the marine is a sailor with belted trousers and a peculiar thirst for trouble.

Marines are soldiers trained for service both on land and on ships of war. They are organized, drilled and equipped much the same as the soldiers of the regular army. They are prepared to fight either as infantry or as marines. Their corps forms an independent branch of the military establishment, which is directly under the authority of the secretary of the navy, and is the principal duty of that office.

Absolute mobility is the ideal of their service. The khaki-clad marine is ready upon an instant's notice to start for a rebellion in China or followers of Huerta in Mexico. They are never away from the coast, and a mobilization of marines. They are being mobilized continuously, one place or another, to sit on the line where there is no fighting, and to see the end of the specialists.

When the occasion arises it is just a matter of an order and a few hours until the needed marines are on the spot. They are all old hands at campaigning, and they are all old hands at campaigning. They are all old hands at campaigning, and they are all old hands at campaigning. They are all old hands at campaigning, and they are all old hands at campaigning.

The headquarters of the corps is in Washington, from whence the major general commander and his staff direct the operations of the corps. The marines themselves are scattered over the world, on the coast, in the interior, in foreign stations, at various points of the country. They are in the line of duty, in the line of duty, in the line of duty. They are in the line of duty, in the line of duty, in the line of duty.

In the past one of the chief duties of the marines corps has been the protection of the interests of the United States on the coast. They have been in the line of duty, in the line of duty, in the line of duty. They have been in the line of duty, in the line of duty, in the line of duty.

Other duties of the corps have been to provide detachments of from a dozen men under a sergeant or a lieutenant, to the protection of the interests of the United States on the coast. They have been in the line of duty, in the line of duty, in the line of duty. They have been in the line of duty, in the line of duty, in the line of duty.

The duty of the corps, which has now come to be regarded as the most important, is that of maintaining the peace. This means the seizure and maintenance of ports for an advanced base of fleet operations in the event of war. The marines are in the line of duty, in the line of duty, in the line of duty. They are in the line of duty, in the line of duty, in the line of duty.

Two regiments of about 1,250 men are to be organized. The first of these regiments is to be stationed on the Atlantic coast, probably at Philadelphia, while a similar regiment is to be stationed on the Pacific coast, probably at San Francisco. The marines are in the line of duty, in the line of duty, in the line of duty. They are in the line of duty, in the line of duty, in the line of duty.

Special care is taken in the selection of recruits and officers for the marine corps. The applicants for enlistment have to undergo strict examination as to their physical, mental and moral fitness. The officers are appointed from the naval academy, from the ranks and from civil life. After enlistment the men are given a year's training at the Marine School at Parris Island. At the advance base school in Philadelphia the men are being trained as electricians, gunners and machinists.

The marine corps is a very young organization, but it has a long history. It was first organized in 1795, and it has since that time been a part of the United States military establishment. The marines are in the line of duty, in the line of duty, in the line of duty. They are in the line of duty, in the line of duty, in the line of duty.

The marines are excellent shots. This probably explains in large part the effectiveness of their equipment. Nearly 4,000 members of the corps are ranked as expert marksmen, and their rifle teams make dangerous competition with the best teams in the world. The marines are in the line of duty, in the line of duty, in the line of duty. They are in the line of duty, in the line of duty, in the line of duty.

The marines are excellent swimmers. This probably explains in large part the effectiveness of their equipment. Nearly 4,000 members of the corps are ranked as expert swimmers, and their swim teams make dangerous competition with the best teams in the world. The marines are in the line of duty, in the line of duty, in the line of duty. They are in the line of duty, in the line of duty, in the line of duty.

The marines are excellent climbers. This probably explains in large part the effectiveness of their equipment. Nearly 4,000 members of the corps are ranked as expert climbers, and their climb teams make dangerous competition with the best teams in the world. The marines are in the line of duty, in the line of duty, in the line of duty. They are in the line of duty, in the line of duty, in the line of duty.

The marines are excellent fighters. This probably explains in large part the effectiveness of their equipment. Nearly 4,000 members of the corps are ranked as expert fighters, and their fight teams make dangerous competition with the best teams in the world. The marines are in the line of duty, in the line of duty, in the line of duty. They are in the line of duty, in the line of duty, in the line of duty.

The marines are excellent leaders. This probably explains in large part the effectiveness of their equipment. Nearly 4,000 members of the corps are ranked as expert leaders, and their lead teams make dangerous competition with the best teams in the world. The marines are in the line of duty, in the line of duty, in the line of duty. They are in the line of duty, in the line of duty, in the line of duty.

The marines are excellent soldiers. This probably explains in large part the effectiveness of their equipment. Nearly 4,000 members of the corps are ranked as expert soldiers, and their soldier teams make dangerous competition with the best teams in the world. The marines are in the line of duty, in the line of duty, in the line of duty. They are in the line of duty, in the line of duty, in the line of duty.

GEORGIA COTTON ASSN. IN SESSION IN ATLANTA

More Than 200 Manufacturers Will Discuss Important Business in Piedmont

More than 200 members of the Cotton Manufacturers' association of Georgia are in the city for the purpose of attending the regular annual meeting of the association which will begin Friday afternoon.

More than usual interest is being felt in cotton men throughout the state in this meeting since the association is expected to take action regarding the "Duke Warehouse Plan" which has for its object the establishment throughout the south of warehouses which will facilitate the handling and financing of the south's money crop. It is expected that the association will give the plan its indorsement and that steps looking to its inauguration in Georgia will be taken.

The first meeting of the convention will be held in the convention hall of the Piedmont hotel at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon. Governor Slaton will deliver an address of welcome which will be responded to by J. D. Massey, of the East and Phoenix mills, of Columbus, Ga.; Stewart W. Cramer, retiring president of the American Cotton Manufacturers' association; and Duke Warehouse Plan with Hon. A. Emery, of Washington, D. C., chief counsel for the American Manufacturers' association, will deliver an address on "Legislation and Business."

The visitors will be banqueted at the Piedmont at 6 o'clock Friday evening while at 8 o'clock another business session will be held. The final business will take place at 10:30 Saturday morning at which time officers for the coming year will be elected.

Charles L. King, L. Arnold, S. A. Carter, A. S. Johnson and Oscar Elias comprise the committee on arrangements.

G. M. A. ENCAMPMENT IS HELD AT LAKEWOOD

Cadets Enjoy Many Happy Festivities During Week's Outing

The annual encampment of Atlanta's noted military academy is being held at Lakewood this week, and the cadets are performing all the field duties of regulars. Guard is mounted every afternoon, and sentinal duty is carried on regularly during the entire day and night and admitting no one to the premises without the pass word. During the day the subject of field engineering is worked out and short range target practice is executed in preparation for the long range work which will come next week. Field sanitation is also studied, and military map-making is one of the important features of the week.

Aside from the regular duties the cadets enjoy boating and swimming during the day, and every evening from 8 to 10 o'clock a delightful program of dancing with parties of young ladies from College Park, Atlanta, Washington seminary, the Woodbury school, and the Girls' High school. One of the most enjoyable features of the camp life is the field diet. The academy possesses a regular army field range and has constructed a wire screen kitchen for the sanitary preparation of the food. The special meat dishes are Georgia, barbecue and Brunswick steak. The present encampment is renowned the best in the history of the school from every point of view, the beautiful weather conditions being very largely to its credit. The cadets will break camp early Saturday morning and settle down for the remaining part of school work.

MILITANT SENTENCED TO YEAR FOR FIRING HOUSE

(By Associated Press.)
LEEDS, England, May 8.—Lillian Lenton, a militant suffragette, was sentenced today at the assizes here to a year's imprisonment for firing fire to Westfield house, Doncaster, in June last year. Miss Lenton, while waiting trial for the crime, which she confessed, was released after a hunger strike. She disappeared and remained in hiding for almost a year, but was recaptured a few days ago at Brighton.

EXPRESSES THANKS TO PEOPLE FOR THEIR AID

W. H. Abbott Extends Card of Gratitude for Their Votes in Tuesday's Primary

The following card, expressing W. H. Abbott's thanks to the people for their votes in his race against T. M. Armistead for tax receiver, has been received by The Journal:

"To the Citizens of Fulton County. I wish to extend my heartfelt thanks to the large number of people who so generously and loyally supported me in my race for tax receiver."

"I have only the kindest feelings for the candidates opposing me on May 5, 1914, and their supporters."

"My race was conducted on a high plane and without bitterness toward anyone."

"Though defeated by a small plurality of 173 votes I cheerfully accept the verdict."

"I shall continue, as in the past, to give my best efforts in serving the people of Fulton county."

"Respectfully,"

"WILLIAM H. ABBOTT."

M. F. Ramsay Heads School
At a recent meeting of the East Point school board, Prof. M. F. Ramsay was elected superintendent of the East Point High school, to succeed Prof. E. W. Anderson, whose resignation takes effect at the close of the present term. Prof. Anderson, who has been elected city at large of the town of East Point, will enter the active practice of law.

As has already been announced the large retail stores on Peachtree and Whitehall streets will be closed until 1 o'clock on Tuesday. The wholesale houses of the city have followed suit and with the freight men falling in line it is predicted that Atlanta will have a real half holiday in which to view the monster parade.

Freight depots will be closed Tuesday until 1 o'clock in honor of the big Shriners' parade.

This announcement which means that hundreds of employees in these depots will get an opportunity to view the monster parade was made Thursday afternoon after the railroad had consulted the railroad commissioners about the matter and had obtained permission to delay opening their offices Tuesday until after the parade is over.

The closing of these depots not only will help to clear the streets in the downtown district of drays and trucks which would hamper the progress of the parade, but it will also help to clear the streets in the downtown district of drays and trucks which would hamper the progress of the parade.

The closing of these depots not only will help to clear the streets in the downtown district of drays and trucks which would hamper the progress of the parade, but it will also help to clear the streets in the downtown district of drays and trucks which would hamper the progress of the parade.

As has already been announced the large retail stores on Peachtree and Whitehall streets will be closed until 1 o'clock on Tuesday. The wholesale houses of the city have followed suit and with the freight men falling in line it is predicted that Atlanta will have a real half holiday in which to view the monster parade.

WEDDINGS

Carmichael-Walker
MCDONOUGH.—The wedding of Miss
Ails B. Carmichael and Mr. Andrew Walker took place last Wednesday evening. A reception followed the wedding ceremony and assisting in entertaining were Mrs. D. T. Carmichael, Mrs. J. T. Woomer, Mrs. J. M. Carmichael, Miss Annie G. Thompson, Mrs.
Walter Cook and Mrs. T. B. Thompson.
The out-of-town guests present at the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. Walker,
Mr. and Mrs. Mathews, Mr. and Mrs. Hattie Mathews, of Griffin; Miss Lou Walker, of Locust Grove; Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Carmichael, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Carmichael and Colonel and Mrs. E. A.
Stephens, of Atlanta.

Love-Tucker

OCILLA.—Mr. Thomas J. Tucker and Miss Mary Love, of Douglas, Ga., were happily married at the home of the bride's mother at 2:30 p. m. of the 5th inst. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dominguez, of this place, in the presence of only the immediate families of the contracting parties.

Feminine Facts

Girl students of the South Bend, Ind.
High school have pledged themselves not to use any alms.
Mrs. N. C. Elder, chairman of the civic department of the Kansas federation, asked 400 mayors to co-operate with the state federation in a clean-up day, this month.
Miss Ethel Vanderbilt, of Solomon, Kan., won a gold medal worth $100 in an agricultural essay contest in which young men in agricultural colleges also took part.
Berlin pays $18,000 a year to the Pulcherrima orchestra, which in return gives a weekly afternoon concert for school children.
Mrs. Charles F. Edson, member of the California state labor commission, has been mentioned as a possible candidate for governor of the state.

MRS. M'ADOO'S BRIDAL GOWN

The bridal gown of Miss Eleanor Randolph Wilson, youngest daughter of the president, was made on the conventional lines of bridal costumes. It contained nothing modern. It was made of ivory-white satin and was trimmed with old lace. The bodice was draped with satin crossed and brought to a point below the shoulders front and back. The V-shaped neck was finished with folds of tulle, and the sleeves were of the same material, while the old point was draped over the right shoulder and fastened with a spray of orange blossoms. The sweeping train was three and a half yards long.

THEATERS

(criticism of initial performance at the box office of the new production of "The Journalist" is furnished by the "Theater" management.)

The last three performances of "The Hairs of the Horrors" at the Lyric promise to draw large audiences than anything which has been presented by the Lucille LaVerne Stock company since its coming several weeks ago. The company is growing steadily in popularity as Atlanta folk learn of its ability, and the engagement now seems destined to succeed. Miss LaVerne has surrounded herself with a company of efficient actresses and actresses, producing her plays in adequate manner and gives a production equal in many ways to the "original."

For next week the LaVerne company will offer "Are You a Man?" a dramatically and interesting production, a dramatic commitment to the visiting Shriners.
The matinee dates will be changed, the Shrine council using the theater for its meetings, and matinees will be given on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Among the various projects that have been evolved to entertain the visiting Shriners last week, nothing in the theatrical line gave greater promise of success for this purpose than the undertaking of Manager Cardozo of the Grand Opera house, in securing the famous Elton Parker, "The Blue Mouse," for the entire week at that theater.

Old, and possibly naughtily playgoers of the big metropolis, will remember
"The Blue Mouse" as the funniest farce of several that had big vogue in New York, Chicago and San Francisco more than a decade ago, from the pen of French and German humorists. Madge Lanning was the star who made thousands laugh themselves into tears and piled up thousands for her lucky manager.

Just four more performances will be registered at the Forth this week.
There will be matinees on Friday and Saturday and night performances both days. It is a wonderful bill with everybody talking about the work.

Lanky's Trained Nurses, a combination including eight splendid looking girls, present the best headline of its sort ever seen at the busy theater. Miss Collins is scoring the biggest sort of hit, with his monologue on the topic of the day. The First Musical Gorms present a number that is contributing to the success of the show. The Forth will be busy next week.

This will be the farewell week of the Edie Black Stock company. The next attraction to appear at the Ritz will be the Olympia Comic Opera company, starring Leo Addie, assisted by big company of principals and a singing chorus. The initial play will be "The Beggar Prince," a tabloid version of the popular opera "The Beggar King." The popular numbers and splendid specialties will be introduced during the performance. Ladies will be admitted free Monday night when accompanied by an escort holding a paid 25-cent ticket purchased before 6 o'clock.

With Frank Hunter and Florence
Davenport featured in a blackface comedy act, the bill of vaudeville and moving pictures at the Grand, on Thursday night, is one of the best shown since the Junior Cafe. Vaudeville started at that theater.

Medium to Have Hearing
Prof. Lazoux, clairvoyant and medium, will appear at the East Point police court Monday afternoon on the charge of having a fight with his wife. In his office in the Citizens' Bank building one day this week.

Larry, of "Caribou" Fame, to Be Guest of Anslie Shrine Week

One of the most distinguished guests of Shrine week arrived in Atlanta today and is at the Hotel Anslie.
He is known only by the name of "Mr.
Larry," but he is notorious for the reason that he stirred up all the late unpleasantness between President Wilson and the Caribou club of Washington.

Without going into idle autobiography, you will recall that a feature of the Caribou club dinner was an automatic electric man who stood up and waved his arms and recited photographically some very naughty things about some very distinguished statesmen.

Well, Larry was the guy. He has been loaned to the Anslie by the Western Electric company of New York, arriving in a large trunk with all his wiring.

Now the Anslie management has placed him in a prominent position over the hotel desk and has made arrangements for Larry to pass all the guests.
Note: Larry has a great voice and you can hear him four floors.

ALDERMEN CONCUR IN RAISE FOR TEACHERS

Increased Salaries May Not Become Effective Until
September 1, 1915

The aldermanic board Thursday afternoon concurred in the resolution, passed by common council last Monday, raising the salaries of associate teachers of the Girls' High school and the English Commercial High school to the same basis as the salaries paid associate teachers of the Boys' High school.

The resolution provides the increase shall become effective January 1, 1915, but, according to a ruling of the city attorney on a charter provision governing the raising of salaries of city officials and employees, the rates cannot become effective until September 1, 1915.

Council probably will ask the legislature at the coming session to change the section of the charter referred to.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—Officers of the Pacific mail liner Magnolia, which is in port from the Orient, anchored yesterday that on the night of April 21, the ship's wireless operator sent a message from Boston to the ship 8,500 miles away. This is said to surpass all previous distance records.

DRIES SKIN ERUPTIONS RIGHT UP END ECZEMA WITH SULPHUR USE LIKE COLD CREAM TO STOP ITCHING

The moment you apply bold-sulphur to an itching or broken out skin, the itching stops and healing begins, says a renowned dermatologist. This remarkable cream made into a cold cream effects such prompt relief in aggravated eczema, that it is a refreshing source of amusement to patients.

And inflammatory affections of the skin while not easily establishing a permanent cure, yet, in every instance, it immediately subsides the itching irritation and heals the eczema right up and it is often, even later, when any eruption again manifests itself.

HAT OF THE LATE MODE

OUR ASTROLOGER

"The stars incline, but do not compel."

HOMOSCOPE.
SATURDAY, MAY 9, 1914.

A day in which to exercise caution in every act. According to astrology Uranus, Mercury, Mars and Neptune are all in a strongly adverse aspect.

When the planets are posited so evilly, it is held that counter influences disturb human thought and action. Those who would escape mistakes, should avoid the stars in so malefic, should avoid taking any positive initiative and they should guard themselves against all contingent dangers.

Uranus is in a place said to cause extreme of mood, upsetting the judgment and distorting the mental. The time is not auspicious for entering into any contract or forming partnerships.

As the aspect tends to increase the activity of the mind, it arouses discontent and rebellion against established conditions of life. Extreme self-restraint should be exercised in social and business relations.

Electric vehicles of every sort are subject to unusual accidents, the seers declare. Mercury maintains a rule particularly unfortunate. It is announced, while the configuration prevails, conditions are not good for business men. Publishers of newspapers and periodicals should be on their guard.

Label stars and serious difficulties multiply while this astral government exists. Scandals will be numerous within the next six months.

Stars clash with ominous power, which presages trouble with foreign powers. The president will meet with unexpected criticism, it is predicted. He should guard his health the next two months.

There is a prophecy that socialism and radical views on economic problems will attract supporters of national fame and that agitation of unusual importance will create anxiety during the summer. Political candidates will encounter difficulties, it is predicted.

According to ancient lore, this should be an unusually propitious day for fishing.

Persons whose birthdate it is may have a year of numerous anxieties. Men should be watchful in business affairs. Women may have extraordinary and difficult responsibilities. Those who are employed may be unfortunate.

Children born on this day are likely to be restless and discontented. A tendency toward untruthfulness may develop. Girls have an unhappy augury for marriage. These subjects of Taurus should have strong will power and much patience. Success through perseverance is probable.

TO SPEND MILLIONS FOR CALIFORNIA OIL PLANTS

British Syndicate to Purchase Two of Largest Companies in the State

(By Associated Press.)
SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—Bari Gray, former governor general of Canada, before leaving last night for Los Angeles, announced the personnel of a syndicate which will spend millions of British money for the purchase of two of the largest oil companies in California.

Lord Pierrie, head of the White Star steamship line; Sir Thomas Rosslyn, deputy chairman of the directors of the Cunard Steamship company; William Anderson, leading ship builder of Vancouver; Sir William Gieseler, famous for his work in Egyptian irrigation projects; Sir Edward Ward, former secretary of the British war office; and Weir, president of the Weir Steamship company.

Barry Gray will be the chairman of the directorate.

HAYES BROS. ESTABLISH BUREAU OF INFORMATION

Hayes Brothers, the well known tailors at 9 Peachtree street, have arranged to make their store the official downtown bureau of information while the Shriners are in town.

Believing such a bureau located near the city will fill a real need, while thousands of strangers from all parts of the country are thronging the city, this firm has made arrangements not only to establish such a bureau, but have it as complete and as efficient as it can possibly be made.

To this end they have arranged to have an official representative of the Shriners present in charge at all hours. He will be supplied with every conceivable kind of data and facts about Atlanta generally and the whereabouts of all the patriots in the city.

KNIGHTS OF KHORASSAN TO HOLD CEREMONIAL

Fifty candidates will be initiated Friday night by Khila Tumbale, one of the Knights of Khorassan. This will be the last ceremonial of the first year. The same will be held in the city. The candidates will be initiated by the Shriners next week.

Character in a Coat Collar

There is such a thing in men's clothes. The whole appearance of a suit, and of the man inside of it, may depend on the collar of the coat.

It must be shaped right, and put on right; and stay right. And that means designed right; and that means Hart Schaffner & Marx.

You'll find these good clothes here in a wide range of patterns and sizes from $18 up to $40.

What The World Is Doing

There is a wonderful news value to the advertising in a live newspaper like The Journal.

Every line voices the World's Work.

It is the message of industry—the story of the wheels going round.

To be up to date, one must be a reader of Journal advertisements, for they tell a story of what is going on that is told nowhere else.

Journal advertisements are Atlanta's business news of the day.

And "Atlanta Always Ahead" depends very largely upon advertising.

Georgia and Tech Stage First Championship Game at Athens Today

LITTLE PAL---HOW MANY TIMES WOULD SHE BE A WIDOW?

--BY LEO

THE SPORTLIGHT BY GRANTLAND RICE

THE SCIENCE OF GOLF.
Golf, I should say, is our easiest game. Whenever approached in the proper frame; in spite of the experts who spring variations; Of stances and grips and the wildest gyrations; All you need is to join, by hill and heather, A drive, an approach and a putt together; Go out and do it-- That's all there is to it.

It would be an awful blow to civilization if the Johnson-Moran match scheduled for Paris this June were called off. We hardly see how the uplift and general progress of the country could stand the terrific shock. Is there no way to switch the A, B, C mediators from Mexico to McKietrick?

NOT YET.

On the other hand, you don't hear those clubs out in front blaming inclement weather for their showing up to date. No one hears Pittsburgh and Detroit "complaining bitterly" over winter's dash across the threshold of spring. While the sky juice was trickling the two leaders were busy chanting the refrain of an old song: "It isn't raining to me; it's raining down roses."

ATHLETIC PROGRESSION.

Not desiring to perturb the cheery confidence of the Tigers in any way—but here is a simple little thought: Three years ago at about this stage the Tigers were seven games beyond the Mackmen. And at October 4 they were ten games behind the Mackmen. It is quite a bit safer, to spring a startling truth, to be ahead of the Mackmen on October 7 than it is to lead them on May 7. Quite a bit.

PITTSBURGH'S CHANCE.

Pittsburg is not only off to a virile leap but she has an additional advantage in putting in most of the month of May at home. This long home stay should give her a still better chance to bulwark her lead with additional victories and develop the habit to a still greater extent.

The fighting will be tougher, however, as Giants, Phillies, Dodgers and Braves carry far more strength than Reds, Cubs and Cardinals, and the exact status of the Pirates will not be determined until they have sparred a few rounds with the east.

If Clarke can repulse this drive eastern attack with gory slaughter he has a corking chance to keep on going and take a shot at the 90 per cent end of the world series split.

Certain National league club owners are panning the Peds despite the fact that said Peds lifted Hendrix and Simon from the Pirates. Suppose these two had been left intact to further bolster up Clarke's people. To our way of thinking the Peds are due a silver loving cup from the other seven N. L. clubs.

THE FUNERAL MARCH OF WASHINGTON.

(Sung after Walter J. had dropped his third straight battle. And now comes the season of our discontent.)

Since Johnson dropped three in a row:

Where light hearted pleasure forever is spent;

Since Johnson dropped three in a row:

Where sad-eyed and listless and weary and worn,

With souls bowed in anguish and bleeding hearts torn,

Ten thousand fanatics dropped the day they were born

When Johnson dropped three in a row.

LAMPING THE BRAVES.

It has taken Cal Stallings some time to get under headway, but we haven't lost faith yet in the showing of this club. Stallings came from last to fifth place last season and he has improved his 1913 club. And under a leader like Stallings a slow start doesn't mean disaster. The Brave mandarin is chuck full of the old pop and the fighting spirit, and he hadly fooled if he doesn't land his club among the first four at the finish.

They'll tell you that a good manager can't make a poor ball club win. He'll come closer to it than a bad manager handling a good ball club—without a carload of luck the last shot hasn't got a chance.

Here's another intricate query: If the Tigers can slip well out to the front with Cobb batting 250—where will they be when Tyrus assumes his normal attitude at .425?

Soccer Teams Will Play for Championship

NEW YORK, May 8.—The first game ever played for the official association football championship of the United States will take place at Pawtucket, R. I., May 16, between teams from the Celtic Football club and the Brooklyn Field club, both of Brooklyn, N. Y. The two teams have eliminated forty of the best soccer clubs throughout the United States.

VIRGINIA LEAGUE NOTES

Austin is so slow that a Richmond scout held a watch on him for a time, and he found that seven times he held the ball from twenty-four to twenty-eight seconds after he was in position to pitch. Once he held onto the ball for thirty-one seconds.

So enthused are the fans in Newport News over the season's start that they are already predicting that Newport News will lead the league, not even conceding Richmond in the season's attendance. Last year, with a fifth position club, Newport News did stand ahead of every other club in the circuit excepting the capital city team.

Gene Hudgins, a Portsmouth product, has been released by Manager Tammehill. Hudgins is suffering from an ankle which was broken last season, and it is feared he will never be right unless the bone is broken and reset.

Harry Draper, who pitched two seasons for Roanoke and one with the Otisville club of the Canadian league, is recovering from serious injuries received last winter at Roanoke, Va., when he was attempting to arrest a ball field fire. Draper was acting in the capacity of a special officer. Draper is now visiting a brother at Welch, W. Va.

Neatherton, an outfielder let go by the Jersey City Internationals, has caught on with Portsmouth for a trial in the garden.

With Pressley at first, Steinbrenner at second, Cleveland at third and Molly McMahon at short, Norfolk has one of the cleanest lineups that has ever worked for the Tar aggregation.

In addition to fielding well, the combination is fast, and in the first five games the quietest slugged at .306. They also piled up fifteen out of the thirty-two runs of those contests.

The Petersburg fans are under Umphre McKeen, but that is no real indication of the ability of the man with the indicator. In the Virginia league it indicates rather that the team is not winning.

Harvey Brooks, whose work helped Petersburg not a little last year in grabbing the championship, watched a recent game by his old team, but that is about all the reporting he seems to have done thus far this spring. Harvey declares he is in the fish business for keeps.

The Norfolk Tars worked seven double plays in the opening series with the Portsmouth Pirates, a condition which is not unusual for the three good beatings handed the Portsmouth aggregation.

Jackets Off to Meet Red and Black in Athens

Two Teams Begin First Series of Two Games at Athens Today—Advance Form Shows the Opposing Forces Well Matched

The day is at hand for the banner event of the season from the standpoint of college baseball in this section, and in fact for the entire southern college field. Today at Athens a swarm of Yellowjackets headed by Coach J. W. Helmsman, will swoop down on the sturdy athletes of the University of Georgia laboring under the tutelage of Joe Hoar in the first game of pair of two games series between the two teams.

This year these battles, which are always the big features of the local college baseball season, are also the deciding issues in the race for the southern college championship. Neither team has lost a series to a southern opponent, while every other team in this section who has played a schedule of any serious import has lost one or more series. Hence, when the two Georgia cracks meet, the matter of which is entitled to the college crown will in all probability be decided, barring a tie which will doubtless be arranged.

Both teams have announced ready for the battle, and fit to put up their best article of ball. The Jackets have had no games since those with Alabama last week, while Georgia finished two games with the Tusculum team on Tuesday. To judge from comparative scores, the Red and Black athletes appear to have the better of the batting argument. With McWhorter, Henderson, Harrison, Ginn and Clements the Athletics have a strong array, and one which Tech can scarcely match for season. However, in a short series the Jackets may surprise the wise ones, and outwit the Georgians. Furthermore the Georgia boys have two good seasoned pitchers, who have been traveling pretty smoothly during the whole season. Tech has in Eubanks a steady, reliable hurler, while either Pitts or Bryant may come to bat.

Followers of the fortunes of the two teams learned long since that dogs on the playing form of these teams when they meet in actual combat counts for little. Hence there is no way of figuring just how the two games scheduled for Athens today and tomorrow will terminate.

This case is no remarkable that many people will doubt it, yet all who are called or call at the child's residence, or above address, The Health Teacher will find a young man, who is the son of a man of his life here in Atlanta, and who has been a patient of the Health Teacher for his word. The Health Teacher said to the people would soon realize the place as a healthful place, and the people as this should certainly convince every sensible person. Once more, the Health Teacher has been called to the Health Teacher and Oil of Balm to any person who may suffer with rheumatism, or who may suffer with headache or blood troubles, and will expect all worms. The Health Teacher has been called to the Health Teacher, and the Health Teacher, 29 Marietta street, and obtain these wonderful Quaker Remedies, and orders of $2.00 or over. (Adv.)
